

Med select

In times of rising health-care costs and with increasing chronic and degenerative clinical pictures, we need cost-effective and causally-oriented treatment concepts. Experience has shown that, particularly when it comes to those diseases caused by environmental pollution and poor lifestyle habits, therapies are needed that get to right to the point. Instead, these "affluence diseases" tend for the most part to be treated with symptom-oriented long-term medication.

The new Med select therapy device makes use of an innovative concept to deal directly with the concealed disease causes in a holistic and cost-effective manner.

With Med select, you can offer your patients the technologically most advanced type of resonance and information therapy. In addition, Med select places at your disposal a device that automatically generates individualized treatment plans for chronic diseases.

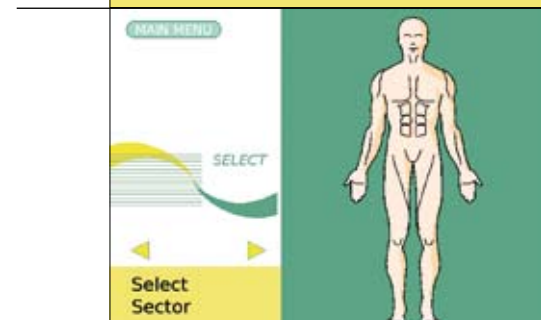

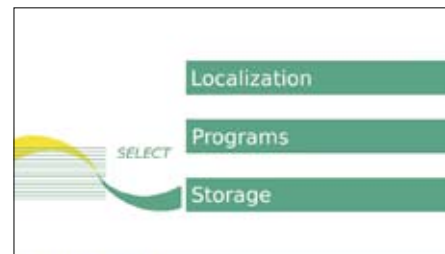

Thanks to its intelligent system, the device fine tunes the therapeutic strategies precisely to each patient's reactive state, metabolic situation and stresses.

Up to now, this individually tailored form of Systems Information Therapy has been the exclusive province of experts and specialists – but now the Med select enables any therapist to learn this advanced type of Systems Information Therapy, simply and easily via the touchscreen and with the aid of the step-by-step instructions of the intelligent menu-driven interface.

The device is equipped with semi- and full-automatic therapy programs. To top it off, the well-known and time-tested VDS technology of the Test expert (digitized vibrational information of therapy ampoules) was also integrated into the Med select. And so, the era of delicate and time-consuming ampoule management is now gone forever.

Therapy minus the detours

- Semi- and full-automatic therapy programs
- Menu-driven & delegable
- Storage for individual therapy programs
- Integrated therapy ampoule database
- Touchscreen operation
- Modular construction: use stand alone or connect to the Med matrix as a therapy station

State-of-the-art resonance therapy:

Med select – For therapy minus the detours

The digitized vibrations of the resonance therapeutic agents are simply switched in from the extensive therapy ampoule database and combined at will with the therapy programs.

This database of therapeutic vibrations gives the therapist immediate access to:

- Environmental toxins
- Vaccines
- Microbes
- Allergens

as well as

- Therapeutic agents
- Vitamins and trace elements
- Enzymes
- Hormones

The up-to-date menu-driven system contains trendsetting technology, with the display guiding the therapist step by step through the therapy session. At every step, animations illustrate the procedure and remind of important movements and actions.

The Med select is thus not only a further development of resonance and information therapy, it is first and foremost a consistent implementation of the latest scientific research results regarding the origins and effects of new and old clinical pictures.

Med select: a module of the wegamed Therapy Station

Of course, the Med select is fully usable on its own, and as such it will quickly become an indispensable device in your practice – but if you're already using the Med matrix, then the Med select will be a double win for you because, thanks to its practical modular construction, Med select can be combined with Med matrix to make up a complete therapy station (or, again, used standalone).

Includes:
wegamed Control Unit, Med select Therapy Module, therapy mat, magnetic field probe, input and output cable, input and output cup, SI CARDS

the wegamed diagnostic and therapeutic methods are considered to be complimentary medicine methods, they acknowledged by scientific medicine.
